

Basic Git commands

git clone

creates a copy of your remote repository into your working directory locally git add

Used for adding files from working directory to staging area git commit

Used after git add to commit changes from staging area to your repository

git status

Shows if there are untracked changes git push

Syncs the local repo with the remote repo / Upload your local repository content to the remote repository git pull

git mv

Deletes the old file name and replaces it with a new name as specified